SHORTAGE IN SCHOOL FUND WILL BE MET

Repetition of Last Year's Experience to Be Avoided by Prompt Action on Part of Members Education Board

Repair Work and Other Expenses Will Be Taboo, but Schools Will Not Have to Close, Is Prediction Made

By strenuous reduction of expenses of various sorts, officials of the school department hope to prevent a shortage in school department funds, which seemed likely for a time to parallel the shortage of last year, when special legislation had to be sought to keep the schools in operation. The shortage would be prevented and the schools kept open to the normal time was a belief expressed by these officials today.

Within ten days the exact financial status of the schools will be apparent. Apportionments actually to be made for the remainder of the year will then have been decided. Ordinarily these could have been made by now. Various reasons, including administrative changes, have been behind the delay. As a result the business division of the school department is unable yet to determine how extensively repairs, additions and other needs must be curtailed.

That they will be curtailed in an effort to prevent a shortage was the declaration of Lloyd Barzee, business manager of the department today. His opinion coincided with that of L. E. Avery, assistant superintendent. Superintendent Fred M. Hunter is out of the city this week.

SITUATION SIMILAR TO THAT OF LAST YEAR.

In school funds was approximately $7,000. The shortage was all in the salary fund, and it looked for some time as if either the schools would have to close early or the payment of teachers' salaries be postponed. Finally the district attorney got an opinion that a transfer could be made of funds available in the building fund, and the emergency was met.

This year a similar situation has threatened, a deficit of two-thirds of last year's shortage being forecasted by those in touch with school affairs. Both Avery and Barzee maintained today that the prognosis was not so bad as to indicate the shortage would be presented.

"We would have been in difficulties again," said Avery, "if the difficulty had not presented itself until later in the term. Then we would have trouble trying to make up the possible shortage. It is early enough now, however, for us to take steps to prevent it." DRUGS, SIGHTING; WITH CUT EXPENSES.

"Within a week or ten days we shall know definitely the minimum apportionment needed at each school. Thereafter repairs, additions and other sources of expense will be curtailed and the expenditure kept within the available funds. Fortunately we have uncovered the situation in time."

That many requests of principals for repairs and additions at their schools will go unheeded was the admission of Barzee. He drew from his desk drawer a bundle of such requisitions some eight or ten inches thick. They had been stacked there because there would probably be no funds to justify their being granted, he explained.

"If all of the demands for money of this sort that come in were granted we should go in the hole a half million a year," he said. "But they won't be."

In fact, there will be no shortage. We are content to bring in as much as possible to keep the expenditures within the limit, and we shall succeed in doing it. Whether the general fund will be sufficient to meet all needs or not we shall know in a few days. If not, the other funds will be kept sufficiently solvent to meet our needs."

UD CLAMPED DOWN TO MAKE U. S. BONE DRY

Government Launches Vigorous Campaign to End Sale of Intoxicants Under the War-Time Prohibition Law

Congress Appropriates Money Needed to Enforce Dry Measure; Sale of 2.75 Per Cent Beer Is Officially Forbidden

BY UNITED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—The national prohibition law was being clamped down today with the government ready to use all of the powers of the enforcement bill which became a law late yesterday when congress overrode the presidential veto.

The first work of enforcing war-time prohibition, according to the law, lies with the bureau of internal revenue. Enforcement will be turned over to the department of justice for criminal prosecution. Evidence concerning violations, particularly in the large cities, has been collected and the attorney general is expected to start wholesale prosecutions in the next few days.

Daniel Roper, commissioner of internal revenue, in a public statement made a plan that he plans to make the nation dry.

Roper, pending enforcement, appealed to "every law-abiding citizen in the United States to support him in the administration of the prohibition law."

"Not to enforce prohibition effectively would reflect on our form of government," Roper said.

"Close co-operation between federal, state, county and municipal officers is of the utmost importance. Collectors have been instructed to get in touch with governors and mayors in each state and request their co-operation in urging upon all other local officers the vital necessity of their immediately assuming their responsibility under the new act."

SALE OF 2.75 BEER WILL BE STOPPED

The immediate effect of the law will probably be the stopping of the sale of 2.75 beer, since the enforcement prohibits any beverage containing one-half of one per cent or more of alcohol.

DR. JENKINS, acting foreign minister, said that Mr. Jenkins, executive council and the heads of the four railroad brotherhoods, declared labor was confronted with grave dangers affecting the very foundation of its structure, and that it was imperative that the responsible representatives of the workers agreed upon "fundamental principles" which will maintain "the right of freedom."

No specific topics for discussion were outlined but it is known that pending anti-strike legislation will be one of the principal subjects.

CRAZED BY FLU STOCKTON MAN ENDS HIS LIFE

For almost a year a sufferer from influenza's effects, J. E. Mitchell, Stockton capitalist, ended his life at the Hotel Harrison. Today his relatives and friends assigned this long illness as, beyond doubt, the sole reason that his nemesis "actuated him to commit suicide." Lee Ochs, Mitchell's attorney, his financial affairs were in good condition. Owing to his bad health his brother had assumed management of some of his business.

Mrs. Mitchell, who had been seeking her husband since Monday and had awaited him most of the day, Monday night in a Francisco hotel, collapsed when the news came to her of his suicide.

Mitchell came here from San Francisco Monday, renting the Hotel Harrison room at 11 a. m. He retired to his room two hours later. Toward evening a maid sought to open his door and was unable to do so. A bellboy entered the room and awoke him. Outside the window Mitchell's body lay beside a dresser. Indications were that he had stood before the mirror and fired into his brain the single shot that ended his life.

Two notes were left by the deceased. One to a lumber mill superintendent in the District Mills, this state, with whom he was engaged in business, complained that his life had been ruined. Another was addressed to "my dear wife, children and family." It read:

"How I hate to leave you in this manner. Oh, had I done this sooner and saved my dear brother on earth. I believe that the world is a poor wife and children. God love and protect you all. Keep Helen with Sally. She is a good girl and can help you. I could not stand it any longer."

The clock was the only tool he obtained.

UNREST KEEPS PLANT AWAY, ACCUSATION

The preceding labor unrest in the United States prevented an $8,000,000 industrial concern from locating in California this year, is the information brought from the East by Fred Boegel Jr., secretary of the California Manufacturers' association who returned this morning from New York city, where he attended a conference of National manufacturers' association October 20 to 22.

The council, which is a subcommittee of the National Manufacturers' association, is composed of the secretaries of state manufacturers' associations.

Boegel says that money is plentiful in the East, but that investors are simple marking time, preferring to invest in the country. Regret is expressed at the gathering over the future of President Wilson's national industrial conference to reach some basis that would end labor disputes. Boegel says as the manufacturers of the country had looked with hope and concern over the outcome of the deliberations of the conference.

The impending coal strike and the threatened railroad stoppage are also giving the business men of the country greatest concern, according to Boegel.

He says that living costs are much higher in New York than in California, $3500 dollars a month, charges $175 to $180 for a very ordinary suit of clothes. Boegel says, while a common overcoat costs $150.

Returning to California, Boegel visited New Orleans where he found business partly paralyzed as the result of strike of negro stevedores.

More than 50 prominent suffrage leaders have signed their intention of joining the party. Reservations may be made with Mrs. W. B. Broadwell, Franklin 2277. Senators and assemblymen have been invited to be the special guests of the Woman's Party.

Beer Enters Limbo of Lost Joys as Uncle Sam Begins To Make Oakland Bone Dry

Beer officially burbed its last in Oakland today.

Famed haunts of the "old steam," the "bock that comes in the spring, tra la," and "the amber light crossing the bar," were destitute—officially—of their traditional enticements.

The new prohibition enforcement law which the federal officers say will be made effective to the letter, doesn't countenance beer at all.

It permits the sale of a malt decoction containing not more than a half of one per cent alcohol, but it mustn't be called anything that resembles the word beer.

INSULT TO "REAL STUFF"

However, many a gusset said today that the government needn't be so strict. The "Booze Willing" not to insult the "real stuff" by calling the substitute by its time-honored cognomen.

Internal revenue officers have announced their intention of swooping down on any dealer who continues to sell the two and three quarters per cent beer. The breweries of the bay district have announced their intention of obeying the law and said they were standing out today only brew containing less than half of one per cent alcohol.

Rudolph Samet of the Rainier Brewing company said he resented the government's indicating it would do one thing one day only to do another the next. He said he kept the brewery busy putting in and taking out the "kegs."

BEER TO BE ALCOHOLIZED

"We trust the federal officials will not confiscate the stocks in transit, but will permit their return to the breweries, where we have special devices for the de-alcoholization of the stronger beers to bring them down to the requisite alcohol content," he said.

I SALUTE "DODSON'S LIVER TONE"

It Never Grieves or Sickens You Like Nasty Calomel. All Bilioousness, Headache, Constipation Is Gone

You're bilious! Your liver is sluggish! You feel lazy, dizzy. Your head is dull, your tongue coated, breath bad, stomach sour and bowels constipated. But don't take salivating Calomel! It makes you sick; you may lose a day.

Calomel is mercury which crashes into sour bile like dynamite, breaking it up. That's when you feel that awful nausea and cramping.

Two Kinds of Everything —the Good and the Bad

By DR. PARKER
Founder and Executive Head of the E. R. Parker System

THERE are only two kinds of dentists—the "good" and the others, and it is the easiest thing in the world to separate them.

The distinguishing mark of the unworthy dentist is his fire-sale methods of getting you into his office, for when a man can not establish a business by doing good work, he claims that he does it cheap.

Dentists using the E. R. Parker System do not quote prices off-hand in the newspapers, because it is utter nonsense to tell in advance what any dental work will cost until an examination is made to see what needs to be done.

Under the Parker System, a Registered Dentist thoroughly examines your teeth without cost, sometimes including the X-Ray, and when it is determined what dental work your teeth require, you are told in advance as plainly as the English language permits how little the price will be to have that work done.

The price is often less than you expect, for the dentists using the System effect savings in many ways and this saving is shared with you.

If this seems fair and reasonable to you, why not learn the price for putting your teeth in a condition so that when you laugh you will take a pride in having your teeth show?

BEER LABELS ARE CHANGED, POLICE SAY

small blocks of stocks to new shareholders so they can exchange their holdings later for wine when the wineries go out of business, according to Assistant United States Attorney Frank M. Silva. He said this was a flagrant evasion of the law and would not be tolerated by the government.

The most optimistic of the wets are not hoping for more than six weeks' dampness before the national禁酒令 comes into effect. They do not look for the ramifications of the peace treaty for a month or so yet.

SALES ARE CLOSED

Oaklanders who have been finding some satisfaction in supplying their alcoholic thirst with "two six beer," were disconcerted today, for nearly all of the saloons that have been open during the period of war-time prohibition have closed in the face of the demand of the war-time prohibition enforcement law. Also, because of this, there existed no opportunity of obtaining anything stronger, a privilege that had been more or less in effect in many of the saloons.

Beer wagons were conspicuous by their absence, or, when present, left no doubt as to their loads.

It is acknowledged by the saloon men that unless war-time prohibition is upheld, and it is decided that the enforcement law will be continued for the period between that time and the young into effect of the Shepard law, the day of buying drinks of alcoholic content is past.

Collector of Internal Revenue Justin Wardell has announced that he will enforce the law to the letter.

There is nothing to prevent a person carrying his private supply with him, but the law does prohibit him from sharing the supply with anyone other than immediate members of his family or guests at his home.

Wardell has said that he will not forbid persons taking their own supply into a restaurant, but he says that he does not approve of such action.

EASTERN AID IS SOUGHT AT TRIAL

An attempt to secure by moral suasion what he cannot force by law was outlined today by John G. Lawlor, attorney for James McHugh, Alex Nelson and others charged with criminous syndicalism, when he obtained Superior Judge James G. Quisenberry to speak for Paul Brissenden, official of the United States department of labor, and others as witnesses in the proposed battle in Oakland for the existence of the I. W. W.

Among the witnesses desired are rational leaders in the I. W. W. movement, several California and one eastern professor and others. The I. W. W. leaders will come of their own accord. The others may not come at all.

Brissenden probably will object to coming as a witness. "I cannot force him nor others in the I. W. W. to do so, as a subpoena from the superior court is not effective outside of the boundaries of the state, but I hope to show that a sense of fairness and justice will demand his presence.

"It is charged that the I. W. W. has advocated violence and terrorism. Brissenden is author of a book entitled 'Studies in American Syndicalism,' in which he declares that is not the case. We shall subpoena him though we cannot force him to come here. The same is true of an eastern university professor and other persons outside of the state. But we hope to get them here by openly demanding that they come."

Among the others expected to appear as witnesses are William D. Haywood, labor leader, J. T. "Red" Doran, Vincent St. John and George Speed, Chicago leaders of the I. W. W. and William B. Cleary, who was deported with 1400 miners from Bisbee, Arizona, in 1911, following labor troubles there. The trials are set for November 6, though it is believed Nelson's will be continued at that time.

SEEK STEAMERS FOR QUEENSLAND

Equipped with memoranda on Queensland's trade requirements, Sir Joseph McEwan Hunter, general for Queensland, is today discussing with shippers and business men about the bay the advisability of establishing a line of steamers between this port and Queensland. Hunter reached the bay yesterday on the liner Sonoma on his way to London.

During his stay in this country he will confer with various trade organizations in American cities and lay before them the desires of his compatriots. Hunter is accompanied by his wife and daughter.

Concerning American business in Australia, the visitor said:

"Your people are becoming interested in Australia as evidenced by the number of inquiries that have been received in Queensland concerning the war relative to the terms of land settlement. Our State offers a great field for homemaking and development as all Americans are becoming aware of this fact."

S. F. Chamber Takes Hand in Dock Strike

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29.—Some chance of a break in the deadlock of the longshoremen's strike that has long crippled shipping of this port, was seen today in the announcement of Athol McBean, president of the Chamber of Commerce, that the chamber would intervene regardless of the merits of the controversy.

Resumption of negotiations between the employers and strikers committee was planned for late today.

About half of the number that originally struck have resumed work under agreements with individual firms.

McBean said the matter had become one of public welfare because a freight embargo against San Francisco is threatened and because freight is being diverted to other Pacific ports.

CROWDER PUTS RESPONSIBILITY ON GEN. MARCH

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—General March was held responsible before the senate military committee's report submitted today by Major General Enoch H. Crowder, judge advocate general, for recommendations that four soldiers in France sentenced to death on conviction of sleeping on post or disobedience of orders, be executed. All four were pardoned by President Wilson, but General Crowder declared General March had refused to concur in recommendation for clemency made by General Crowder and himself.

General Crowder was answering the charge made by Samuel T. Austin, former judge advocate general, that the whole military powers entered into an agreement that these men should die.

CITY TO HOUSE ANIMAL SKINS

EASTBAY SOCIETY NEWS

Dinner Dances Innovation to Social Season

That some move will be made to provide a building to house the collection of animal skins to be donated to the city by Leslie Simon, mining engineer and big game hunter, who is now heading an expedition through Africa, was indicated when the City Council adopted a resolution yesterday expressing appreciation to Simon and agreeing to take every action in its power to further and aid in procuring a suitable museum building for the collection.

Action was taken by the council as the result of a communication from the Chamber of Commerce which has adopted a similar resolution and urged the same move by the city. According to the chamber of commerce, Simon's collection of the most extensive collections of animal skins in the world and also a collection of greater American animals, the two exhibits being worth more than half million dollars.

Los Angeles, according to the local organization, has made a bid for the collection and offers to guarantee a building costing no less than $250,000. It is proposed to send the collections favoring the erection of the museum building to Simon through H. A. Snow, who is leaving for Africa shortly to handle the motion pictures in connection with the expedition.

A DISCOVERY THAT BENEFITS MANKIND

Two discoveries have added greatly to human welfare.

In 1853 Newton originated the vacuum process for condensing milk with cane sugar to a semi-liquid form.

In 1885 Horlick at Racine, Wis., discovered how to reduce milk to a dry powder form with extract of malted grains, without cane sugar.

This product HORLICK'S named Malted Milk. (Name since copied by others.) Its nutritive value, digestibility and ease of preparation (by simply stirring in water) and the fact that it keeps in any climate, has proved of much value to mankind as an ideal food-drink from infancy to old age.

Grandmother to Provide Special Club Program

By EDNA B. KINARD

The old fashioned grandmother who put on her lace cap with its lavender ribbons when the first grandchild appeared and retired to a corner by the fire with her knitting is one of the interesting traditions which the years have left. Grandmothers today are not the women who care on. They have had their grandmothers. They have reared and educated and seen their children enter the golden land of dreams. Grandmothers today having done their duty, scorn the place by the fire. They have paid their price and they claim their reward. They are the only free women who are left. Age does not matter. Silver hairs are the sign of their emancipation, not their prohibition from the things of life.

The Twentieth Century Club has arranged to honor the grandmothers among its membership. Not the old fashioned grandmothers are they, but the modern, eager, clever mothers of daughters who have daughters and sons who have sons, who have at last achieved time and leisure to accomplish the things they have visioned through the years that they might do. It is a pretty compliment which the club is offering to its mothers.

Indeed, it is the debut of a new fashioned grandmother. The party is named for Tuesday, November 4, with the strict injunction that there shall be no guess. Four of the club grandmothers will provide the program. The numbers will be made up of their own original work.

Mrs. Carrie B. Rice will offer two poems, "Berkeley, the Beautiful" and "California, Cradle of Mankind." "Garden of Love" and "Abundance" will be the songs which Mrs. A. M. Elston will contribute. The comedies and skits of Mrs. Julia Foster enjoy something more than a local popularity. She will read one of her newer dramatic writings, "A Scoop for the Daily News." "Tempus Fugit," "On the Heights" and "The Professor" have been chosen from among her verses as the group which their author, Mrs. Amy W. Hulman, will read.

To honor the boys who have been in service, open house will be kept in the Derby street clubhouse on Thanksgiving night, club families and their guests being included in the festivities.

In a resolution adopted by the city council the city engineer was requested to prepare a program for the construction of the Tenth street extension from Filion street to the intersection of East Tenth street and Second avenue. The plan also includes a parking space in the rear of the municipal auditorium.

The replacement of the fresh water connection of the high pressure fire system in Oak street was provided for by the council and the city clerk instructed to call for bids for the work.

Free use of the municipal organizations was granted to the Jewish organizations of the city for a benefit theatrical performance to be held on the evening of November 2 for the relief of Jewish sufferers in Europe.

WOMAN FORGETS COLOR OF WAIST

They were either color blind or could not recall in the exciting few moments in the police courtroom the exact color of a silk shirtwaist owned by Mary Chanos. Mary Chanos was arraigned on a petty larceny charge and it was a vital part of the evidence to determine the exact color of her prized silk shirtwaist.

The Chanos woman was accused of stealing a pink silk shirtwaist from Mrs. Clem Thomas at the California Canners' association, where both women appeared. Mrs. Thomas dressed the charge and caused Mary Chanos' appearance.

The question involved was whether or not the pink cream shirtwaist was Mary's. Even Mary's husband said it was green.

Police Judge Mortimer Smith opined he would decide once and for all by having Mary Chanos bring the troublesome shirtwaist into court.

Raker Fails to Get Oil Bill Considered

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Unsuccessful effort was made yesterday by Representative Raker, Democrat, California, to obtain consideration by the House of an amendment to the oil-leasing bill, so as to prevent stockholders in an oil company formed under anti-trust dissolution decrees or with the purpose of escaping anti-trust prosecution, from owning stock in more than one oil company. The proposed amendment, which is similar to that written in the bill by the Senate, was afterward eliminated from the House bill.

Opposition, however, was held to be of greater by Representative Madden, Republican, Illinois, presiding temporarily as speaker.

Before the amendment of Representative Raker was offered, the House refused to eliminate a provision of the bill retaining for the states their taxing power over mineral lands leased by the government.

The Nujol Treatment as Sickness Prevention

Science, with anti-toxins, serums, and modern sanitation, has done much to prevent dangerous disease, but the diseases so checked are comparatively few. On the other hand, 90% of all diseases have one common origin—constipation.

The dangers of constipation are so far-reaching, because the blood receives poisons from an infected mass within, and carries them directly to every organ of the body; and because constipation itself keeps the system in a run-down condition so that any infectious germs from without readily gain foothold.

Keep clear of constipation and you guard against serious disease. Nujol will remove constipation and prevent its return.

The action of Nujol is entirely different from that of any other constipation remedy. It is not a drug. Nujol softens the food waste and encourages the intestinal muscles to act naturally.

Nujol helps Nature establish easy, thorough bowel evacuation at regular intervals—the healthiest habit in the world. Get a bottle from your druggist today.

COUNCIL BARS GARAGE NEXT TO HOSPITAL

Protests by members of the Fabiola Hospital association against the erection of a garage adjoining the hospital grounds by R. H. Adams were upheld this morning when the city council adopted a resolution rescinding a previous resolution granting Adams a public garage license.

The protest was heard at length before the council, the hospital association being represented by Attorney C. E. Snook. The council was advised by the owners of the proposed building that the plans included only a salesroom, but that a permit had been necessary in order to erect the building under the laws.

Before taking final action the council postponed the hearing for half an hour and advised the opposing factions to "get together," but the conference resulted in a deadlock and the permit was finally denied.

A permit for the location of a poolroom at 5515 College avenue by E. R. Seaman was also denied by the council on the protest of mothers and residents of the Rockridge district who claimed the poolroom would be a menace to the welfare of the youth of the neighborhood. Issuance of the permit was urged by members of the Vernon-Rockridge Improvement club, but the privilege was denied by a vote of the majority members of the council.

NEW SPECIE OF 'BURGLAR' FOUND

A Piedmont woman thought she had discovered a new species of burglar at Grand and Wildwood streets last night.

This "burglar" was perched on top of a telegraph pole. He was almost hidden from view. It was at a late hour at night and hence the suspicious Piedmont woman had her doubts about the stranger. She called in the police, and Deaf Seaman, O. F. Seaman and Patrolman E. Marttiessen responded. "Come down off there," shouted Daris to the man on top of the pole. "Aw gwan; I gotta finish this job tonight," replied the supposed bad man.

"Come down or I'll shoot," said Mathiesen. "I'll get me right, buls; I'm a lineman policing this wire. If you don't go away, I'll report you both." They went away.

Hundreds of Ex-Service Men Sign Up for Record Street Parade on Nov. 11

Registration of ex-service men of the army and navy for the "Civics Parade" which is to be a part of the Armistice day celebration at the civic home, welcome committee in Oakland, November 11, continues unabated at the Liberty hut, Fourteenth street and San Pablo avenue. So far 600 men have signed up for the parade.

Indications are that the parade will be the biggest street demonstration seen in Oakland in recent years. All civic and fraternal organizations of the city have been asked to march. The American Legion, British war veterans and the Y. M. C. A. secretaries also are to participate.

Immediate relatives of the men who were killed during the war also are registering rapidly at the Liberty hut. Bronze plaques are to be presented to the relatives of the men, who paid the supreme sacrifice at the memorial services in the municipal auditorium on the afternoon of Armistice day.

In order to facilitate the work of the civic welcome committee, relatives of the men killed in the war are urged to register by November 5. This is necessary as the committee needs the proper data for the bronze plaques before Armistice day.

A partial list of the Oakland men in whose memory the bronze plaques will be presented to their nearest relatives at the memorial services in the municipal auditorium follows:

Private Samuel Russell, son of Mrs. Mary J. Russell, 515 Broadway avenue; killed in action on Hill 210 in the Argonne sector, October 11, 1918. Private Russell was a member of Co. A, 18th infantry, first division.

Leo Levenson, bugler of Co. H, 13th infantry, 3rd division; died of wounds at Chateau-Thierry, France, November 12, 1918. His sister, Mrs. G. H. Calvin, resides at 449 Fortieth street.

Corporal L. Frye, Co. H, 26th infantry, killed in action at Soissons, France, in 1918. He formerly lived with his mother, Mrs. Kate A. Frye, 571 Gushue street.

Sergeant J. E. Tully, Co. A, 31st infantry, died in action November 1, 1917. His nearest relative is Mrs. Louise Tully, 2615 High street.

Private Anthony Centini, 7th field

Workers to assist in the last two days of the Roosevelt memorial campaign are asked for today by Attorney John W. Stetson, who is in charge of the Alameda county campaign.

Every man and woman in the county who will take it upon themselves to interview ten persons is asked to attend a public luncheon tomorrow noon at the Hotel Oakland. Every one is invited and a program of speakers will be presented.

Former Governor George C. Pardee, Victor Metcalf, the secretary of the navy under Roosevelt, Edwin L. Brown, the western field representative of the Roosevelt Memorial Association, are among the speakers.

SEEKS OAKLAND QUOTA

It is believed that sufficient impetus will be gained from the luncheon to bring up the Oakland quota of $13,500.

Up to date Oakland has made the poorest showing of any city in the country, Berkeley having exceeded it in the amount of money subscribed.

"I want every man and woman who can to consider this a personal invitation to attend the luncheon on Thursday," announced Stetson. "Let every one come and let us rescue Oakland from the ignominy of falling down. The date is Thursday, the 28th noon and the place Hotel Oakland."

RUCKERS KEEPS UP SEARCH TO FIND HIS WIFE

Orla C. Rucker, electrician at Mare Island, continues the search for his wife, Mrs. Rose Rucker, 2033 Chaney way, Berkeley, who disappeared two weeks ago. Although his health is greatly impaired by worry over the silence which envelops Mrs. Rucker, the husband is following every clue which might lead to the discovery of her whereabouts.

With a companion, William West, Rucker, on Friday morning, a quiet search in the vicinity of California and First streets, San Francisco, an unsigned postal card having given word that the writer had seen a woman answering Mrs. Rucker's description with an aged man leaving a street car at that point. The husband spent two days in Oakland, a conductor declaring he had seen the Berkeley woman leave the train at that station. Private detectives are assisting in the search. Rucker has been in conference with the San Francisco police.

Mrs. Rucker is 26 years old, 5 feet 9 inches in height, weighs 135 pounds and has dark hair and eyes.

CIVIL BOARD SETS HEARING FOR WINHAM

The appeal of Harry G. Winham, head carpenter of the Board of Education, from the action of the School Board in suspending him last week on charges of alleged dishonesty made by Director Fred A. Campbell, was taken up by the Civil Service Board last night and a hearing set for Tuesday evening, November 11. The case was adjourned last night because of the absence of President Ralph Fisher in Washington.

Winham appeared before the board and stated that he did not know what he was accused of, and requested information as to the charges against him. Campbell, who was delegated by the School Board to represent the department and present the charges, did not appear. Winham has retained a firm of attorneys to appeal the case.

AGREE TO SURVEY

The board last night agreed to the request of the school board for a complete survey of the business and accounting needs of the school department, and Secretary Frank Colburn was requested to commence the survey at once. At the same time the department is to be completely reorganized by Business Manager Lloyd D. Parker.

The board took action to aid former service men lost standing on the eligible list for appointment in the civil department during their absence in service. Chief of Police J. F. Lynch was instructed to furnish the men temporary employment as substitutes and meanwhile the possibility of a special examination will be investigated by Secretary Colburn.

At the request of Superintendent of Streets Marston Campbell, the position of trend indicator was created at a salary of $125 to $150 a month and the board decided to retain an employee on street orders on a monthly salary basis. An increase in the salary of Assistant City Engineer Melvin Auerbach will be considered the first of the year.

PETERSEN GIVEN LEAVE

Captain of Inspectors Walter J. Petersen was granted a vacation of 15 days and a leave of absence of 12 days to attend the national convention of the American Legion in Minneapolis next month, to which he was elected a delegate at the State convention in San Francisco recently. The leave will take effect November 4.

Upon the request of Commissioner of Public Health and Safety F. F. Morse the board approved the abolition of the position of senior book-keeper in the department, and the creation of the position of account-ant, which will be filled by Frank Colby, the department's senior book-keeper. Colby is the only man on the eligible list of accountants, and he has been in line for a position of accountant in the school department, vacated by the resignation of Vernon P. Irvin.

GIVEN BACKING OF CLUB
Resolutions expressing confidence in the integrity of Harry G. Winham, head carpenter of the Oakland school department, who is accused of having been dishonest in his official capacity, have been adopted by the Centenary club of the Shattuck Avenue Methodist Episcopal church. The resolutions are signed by O. D. Jacoby, president, and by A. J. Dunn, secretary of the organization. Winham's case is being investigated by the board of education, and by the civil service commission.

BENEFIT PROGRAM TO DRAW THROG

Interest in the shipyard union workers' big benefit program at the T. & D. theater tomorrow is likely to indicate that the union, having the biggest day's receipts in the history of that theater. Shipyard workers themselves are selling tickets and it is expected that the house will be two-thirds sold before the door is opened tomorrow noon. The union men have taken over the house from that hour to midnight.

In selecting the present week from which to draw a night for their benefit, the shipyard workers have availed themselves of one of the strongest and most attractive productions it is "Her Kingdom of Dreams" in which Anita Stewart appears surrounded by the greatest all-star cast brought together in one production.

In addition to the regular program, which includes Florence Reed in "Her Gown," vaudeville numbers, scenic prologue and especially arranged music by Signor L. Marcelli's big orchestra, the shipyard men promise many surprise attractions of their own.

You Can't Brush Or Wash Out Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid auron; apply it at night when retiring; we enclose to inclose the scalp and rub it in gently with the fingers.

"WAS A FRIEND IN NEED TO ME"

Miss Oliver Says Nothing But Tanlac Ever Helped Her Five Years' Trouble

"After trying everything I heard of for five years Tanlac was the only thing that did me any good," said Miss May Camilla Oliver, who resides at 1230 16th street, San Francisco, to a reporter yesterday. "I was sick days ago. Continuing, Miss Oliver said:

"I had no appetite and would often go all day long without a bite, and what did force down would soon be up again. My ground form and I would blurt terribly. My nerves were in such bad shape I would start the least little thing out of the ordinary and could not sleep, would go right after night without ever closing my eyes. I would get up in the morning completely fagged out."

"I had heard of the good Tanlac was giving others in my condition and got me some. After taking the first bottle I began to feel better, and after taking three bottles I feel like a different woman. I have a friend again and what I eat agrees with me. My nerves are in fine shape and I sleep all night without ever waking up, and get up in the morning feeling rested."

"Tanlac has been like a friend in need to me, and it is a pleasure for me to recommend it. I never miss a chance to tell how much good Tanlac has done me."

Tanlac is sold in San Francisco and Oakland by the Owl Drug Company stores. —Advertisement.

COAL SHORTAGE IN FRANCE IS NOW ALARMING

PARIS, Oct. 28.—Governmental and municipal authorities and coal merchants virtually admit the impossibility of finding a remedy for the situation, which has arisen here because of the coal shortage. Although cold weather has not yet really begun, Paris is already feeling the pinch and there is some suffering in the poorer quarters of the city.

The stocks in Paris amount to approximately 20,000 tons, with only 3000 tons arriving daily. The city needs 10,000 tons per day in cold weather.

U. S. S. SCHOONER ABANDONED. LONDON, Oct. 29.—The American schooner Jessie Edwards, which sailed from New York Sept. 18 for Brazil, was abandoned at sea on Oct. 25 and the crew taken on board the British steamer Grebark, according to a message received here from the Grebark, which has arrived at Gibraltar.

Notice was previously served upon the board that the arrangement by which Oakland and San Francisco exchange pasteurization certificates must terminate if San Francisco's existing pest control laws are not strengthened. The board has not yet been convinced that such a change in the ordinance was advisable.

By BOB SHAND.

While the wise boys of the fight game are stringing with Al Norton to knock Joe Willis for a goal when the pair meet at the auditorium tonight, Willis has quite a following who will stick with him to the limit. It will be remembered that the same Willis was paired off with K. O. Kravosky a few weeks ago and at once expressions of sympathy for the "old man" came from all quarters. Joe showed how much he needed sympathy when he chased Kravosky all around the ring and inflicted enough damage to warrant the judges calling the affair a draw. If there was any edge at all in that fight it belonged to the "old man" but the draw decision was plenty fair.

Willis is in as good shape for tonight's bout as he was for Kravosky and he is just as liable to spring another surprise this evening. It is many a long year since Joe was in the ring but he is as spry, full of fire and believes in keeping in condition at all times. Although a veteran of the ring, Willis can still step four rounds with the best of them. In the Kravosky fight he was in better shape at the finish than his opponent.

HELD MCGOWAN EVEN.

Norton and Bob McCormick boxed a draw across the bay a pair of weeks ago and Norton proved much the better. He will be held in reserve for the Kravosky fight. The Meehans and that sort he was always a dangerous customer. He packed a man-sized kick. The Kravosky fight was a draw. The boys have a card. He will be held in reserve for the Kravosky fight and he seems to be as fast as ever. With "Big" George Sharkey in his corner to do "Spider" Kelly Norton is going to tear all the time.

Young in favor. In favor. Willis has experience. It looks like a tough fight.

The special event between Jimmy Duffy and Johnny Nunes is attracting a great deal of interest. Nunes always takes the lead in the teams and he is good. He is a "set" for the clever Duffy, but Jimmy is not in the best of shape at the present time and Nunes is very likely to give him a hard time. He is in the best of his form Nunes wouldn't figure but Jimmy has been out of the game for awhile and will not be as fast as he used to be.

LEOPOLD ON CARD.

Joe "King" Leopold makes his re-appearance in the ring after a long absence. Joe is a real popular bear feline with the gloves and he says he is as good as ever. He has a date with George Spencer, one of the best boys of his weight in the four-rounds. He is a good kid and gave Young Sharkey a boxing lesson recently.

Bum Spiers vs. Tommy Hayes and Frank Oldrich. Bum will be featured by some real fighting also. Spiers made a hit in his first fight here with Dick Trounce last week and he is giving it a battle. Punky Lewis, the most robust bridgepony, simply has to bring home the bacon tonight as he has two mouths to feed now instead of one. Punky is picking up a tough one. The boy who was hammering rivets clear through the sides of ships prior to the strike is the boat building plants.

Billy Syre vs. Frank Oldrich and Bobby Erte vs. Joe Villamore round out the card.

WASHINGTON LOSES LOGG.

SEATTLE, Oct. 28.—Dave Logg, University of Washington fullback, the star of the team, was ruled out of the game for the season, it was announced last night. Logg broke his jaw in practice last week. He knew he was broken until a doctor examined it last night.

Olympic Club Will Be Scene of Annual Amateur Scraps

The annual Pacific Coast boxing championships will be staged at the Olympic Club, San Francisco this evening with a splendid entry list from all over the coast. Oakland will be represented by boxers in the 115 and 120-pound class and San Leandro has an entry in the flyweights division. Allen Tucker and Al Moore will carry the Oakland colors in the 115-pound class and Artie Gilbert will box in the 125-pound division. The San Leandro entry is Andrew Miller who weighs only 108 pounds.

The scraps will be held in the gymnasium of the Olympic Club and arrangements have been made to seat all the spectators. The winners of tonight's battles will box tomorrow evening when it is hoped to bring the tournament to a close.

Bob Grant, heavyweight champion of the Atlantic fleet, will meet Rudie Petersen of Oakland in a battle for the heavyweight division. They are the only candidates for honors in this class but the battle should be something to remember.

Grant, who was able to hold his own with the best, is a regular.

Petersen, who has been boasting of his own record, has been fighting the best boxers in the country.

Most of the professional boxers around here and should wade through Huntington and Midway, the other San Francisco entrants and Geyer, a boxer from the city, is also a favorite.

Ottino Scribante, of the Italian club, San Francisco, will make his debut in the 115-pound division and all of North Beach is expected to be there to root for Ottino.

If Ottino can fight as fast as he can run he will give the other boys a fine battle.

PERFORMANCE EXPECTED.

Mr. Kijuro Shidehara, the new Japanese ambassador to the United States, has arrived in this country. He comes with fair words of assurances, which are normally expected to encourage the people of both Japan and the United States to hope for a better understanding between them and their governments. Mr. Shidehara says:

"I have a strong belief in the practical common sense of the American people, and above all, their instinctive love of justice, which have invariably proved in the end to have a controlling influence in all matters of international importance."

This is a splendid utterance of sentiment on the part of the new ambassador, but does he fully recognize that an instinctive love of justice also implies a recognition of the fundamental principles of justice by those with whom we have dealings? Surely he is aware of the fact that one of the most discussed subjects in the United States at present is the attitude of Japan toward China, sharply, though not adequately, emphasized in the Shantung clause of the peace treaty. The popular demand for a modification of that clause is deep-rooted in an instinctive love of justice." To lay the national mind of America a sincere compliment would lead Japan immediately to rectify the injustice she has committed and attempted against China and which the Shantung clause commemoates.

Japanese diplomats ought to understand ere this that the world, reposing less faith in the given word, has come to look for performance. It would be unkind to rebuke the new ambassador with a reminder of the experiences with Viscount Ishii. But he doubtless is aware of the fact that that representative of the Tokyo government, when he came here in 1917, also pledged cordial efforts to promote mutual understanding and confidence between this nation and Japan. Yet he negotiated the Lansing-Ishii agreement and tricked the American Secretary of State in agreeing to a five-day period of secrecy, during which Japan used that agreement to wring further concessions from the good friend of the United States—China. Viscount Ishii did more than any of his predecessors to create a feeling of distrust and dislike for the Japanese government.

Mr. Shidehara would do well to avoid becoming the instrument of the policy which was forced by Tokyo upon Viscount Ishii. If he does not the relations between Japan and the United States will become increasingly strained.

SERVING JUSTICE.

A Paris despatch a few days ago conveyed the information that the first of the German officials to be handed over to the Allied governments for trial for crimes against humanity during the war had arrived at Lille, France. They were two non-commissioned officers of the German army, against whom charges of theft and mistreatment of civilians had been filed.

Any beginning in the fulfillment of this duty to convince the German people and the remainder of the world that deeds of inhumanity cannot be allowed to go unpunished is a good beginning. But many persons will regret that the Allies are to start with unimportant subordinates. It would be much more beneficial to start with the Kaiser. Von Bethmann Hollweg, Ludendorff and Von Tirpitz. And it should be remembered that moral benefit is being sought, not vengeance.

After these chiefs of the criminals and leaders of criminals, there is a long list of high functionaries who were responsible for what their underlings did. Dr. Henry A. Stimson of New York has made a happy suggestion of those who should head the list. They include:

Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria, who is responsible for the deportations of Lille, Roubaix and Dunkirk, and who hanged civilians in Russian Poland.

General von Schubert, who collected old men and women and children in the hospital at Brouage and shelled them because they were "useless mouths," and then gave thirty-one girls to his officers.

Major von Bulow, August 22, 1914, said it was with his consent that 100 inhabitants of Ardenne were shot and the whole place burned. He was also the author of the massacre of Aerschot.

General von Mackensen ordered 1000 Rumanian children to be shot on the ground that they had conspired against him, and is responsible for the execution of Rumanian notables and peasants.

Von Capelle for sinking hospital ships.

General von Manteuffel ordered the burning of Louvain.

General Klaus is responsible for the massacres of Gerberville and Fraimbois, and soaked a man with petroleum and burned him.

General von Stenger ordered all prisoners, even if taken in large numbers, to be put to death, and no living man to be left behind.

General von Blegen massacred 600 persons in Dinaut, including little children and women.

According to Paris reports, over 600 German officers and soldiers have been named against whom direct evidence of crime has been gathered. As soon as ratifications of the peace treaty are exchanged the list will be given out and then the world will know just who will have to answer. It is a grim business, but it is essential that Germany be convinced that that is not right, that there are not two standards of morality, that wrongdoing must bear a punishment commensurate with the wrong.

This is justice and Germany wanted justice. But to confine the penalties that should be inflicted to a few minor soldiers would shame those who have resolved to see justice done.

THE MONEY SUPPLY.

Members of both houses of Congress have indicated their belief that something ought to be done to reduce the currency supply of the country. These advocates of the restriction of money are obviously greatly impressed with the theory that the high prices of commodities have been largely caused by an increase in the amount of circulating currency. The resolutions which have been introduced in the Senate and House with reference to this subject have had the effect of drawing a reply from both Secretary of the Treasury Glass and Governor Harding of the Federal Reserve Board.

These replies are illuminating. They show that while there has been an increase in the currency of the country since the declaration of war in April, 1917, the increase has not been sufficient to account for all the increase in prices. There is a considerable margin left that must be explained on other grounds, principally the influence of foreign buyers in the domestic markets, profit taking and last, as a result of all other causes combined, the psychology of rising prices.

The amount of money outside the federal treasury and reserve banks did increase during the war. On April 1, 1917, it was $4,100,976,000. On December 1, 1918, twenty days after the signing of the armistice, it was $5,129,985,000. This was an increase of about twenty-five percent. But by August 1, 1919, the money in circulation, coins and notes, had fallen to $4,796,890,000. The per capita amount in circulation is more easily comprehended than the total in billions. On April 1, 1919, it was $37.88; on December 1, 1918, $48.13, and on August 1, $45.16. Thus, since the armistice the per capita circulation has decreased by $2.97.

Horace Greeley's phrase, "The way to resume specie payment is to resume," is often quoted. But as a matter of fact, Greeley's advice might have been absurd and impossible. If there had been no specie on hand re-umption of specie payment would have been impossible. However, it seems probable that the national treasury and the Federal Reserve Bank will be able soon to show a substantial reduction in the amount of paper currency.

The only item of currency in which there was an increase during the war was Federal Reserve notes. The amount in circulation rose from $357,339,000 on April 1, 1917, to $2,607,445,000 on December 1, 1918—more than a seven-fold increase. During the same period the supply of gold coin and gold certificates in circulation dropped from $1,950,000,000 to $861,245,000. The gold coin and certificates withdrawn from circulation went into the government's vaults and there it was augmented by gold imports from other countries.

Under the present Federal Reserve system these notes issue only when commercial transactions demand them and they automatically return to federal depositories when the need for them has passed. Paraphrasing Greeley, the way to reduce paper currency is to reduce, and in this instance the government can reduce just as rapidly as the demand for an expanded currency decreases. Reduction of prices would bring about a decrease in the circulating money supply, but it is to be doubted whether a withdrawal of money would, of itself, cause a drop in prices.

The suggestion of legislation to reduce the money supply would therefore seem to be ill-advised, and indeed there appears no prospect that it will be seriously considered by Congress. Both Secretary Glass and Mr. Harding are strongly opposed to any new currency laws at this time.

Los Angeles is competing on fairly even terms with San Francisco in the matter of illicit stills for the manufacture of whisky substitutes. Four such stills have been seized in the southern city within the last few weeks. Yet outsiders were expected to believe that Los Angeles was injured to abstinence long before war-time prohibition became the legalogue.

Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria, who is responsible for the deportations of Lille, Roubaix and Dunkirk, and who hanged civilians in Russian Poland.

NOTES and COMMENT

The despatches tell about a Brooklyn manufacturer of white lead being arrested for illegally hoarding 2,000,000 pounds of bacon. White lead and bacon have not heretofore gone hand in hand, but there may be a new fashion.

The world certainly moves. The ban on women sitting in the House of Lords has been lifted. It was not long ago that they were not permitted to attend sessions of parliament even as spectators, except behind a screen.

We rather expected it. Stanford is not quiescent in this matter of the "perfect man." It has a candidate, who, according to standards, "measures up." This is a new rivalry. But considering the efforts at Davis to produce perfect steers, why not?

We see, by the order of the State Board of Health regarding spoons, how we are being regulated. Ice cream clerks must handle them so that the bowl will be untouched by the clerk. Some distance from the time when everybody drank out of the same dipper and dried himself upon the tavern towel that countless predecessors had used.

The Johnson pact vote was killed, but not by as big majority as some appeared to expect. The vote of 40 to 38, however, is not indicative of the real division. Senators Phelan of California, Smith of Georgia, Ashurst of Arizona and eight other opponents were not present when the vote was taken, but have announced that they would have voted against it. Senator Phelan would support a reservation. All of which indicates that the subject has vitality.

Regarding prohibition, the question still remains open as to just where the line should be drawn as to intoxicating beverages. The 2.75 beer is permitted by suffrage, not by legal enactment.

There is no doubt that intrigue is carried on to restore the Hohenzollern dynasty. There seems to be a steady procession of visitors, who are readily classified as royalists, to Amerongen castle. The general protest against the removal of the former Kaiser's picture from German schoolrooms indicates public sentiment more clearly than anything that has lately transpired.

One of the most astonishing frauds uncovered in recent time is that of the Lull-Wall Company, which touched the public for $7,000,000. Its officers are now being tried in Chicago, and one of the interesting things brought out in the testimony was that of a banker, that he had endeavored for three years to fetch the concern up standing. It seems strange that it should require three years in this intelligent land to get action in such a matter.

One unusually large packing season was completed at the Lorenzo factory of the California Packing Corporation when the last tomato was given its winter housing. Wednesday, October 15, the 15th of the month, was the last day of the year to be packed.

The big trucks loaded with freight to and from the upper sections of the county, that pass through San Andreas daily, almost cease to cause notice.

We noticed one day a truck loaded with six tons of lumber from the mills above. Last Friday a big truck, 15 feet long, 7 1/2 feet wide, 7 1/2 feet high, was loaded with 15,000 cans of black beans.

EASTBAY GIRLS ARE HELD AS PRETTY AS $10,000 BEAUTY

If the court of beauty should be held in Oakland, who would be its queen? Would Venus be out-Venused and Sapho be out-Saphoed? Can the west, with its laughing skies and sun-kissed waters, rival the east as the homeland of modern young goddesses and queens of loveliness?

Oakland sends its challenge across the continent to greater New York where the beauties of all lands and all parts of this land, are the toast and the boast of the nation. Miss Alice Louise Secker has been judged by no less authority than D. W. Griffith, motion picture producer; George M. Cohan, theatrical producer and playwright, and Harrison Fisher, portrayer of beautiful women and magazine illustrator, to be the most beautiful girl in all of greater New York. To seal their decision the young woman was presented with a substantial check of $10,000 as a reward for just being. Hundreds of charming girls were rivals of Miss Secker in the contest which was conducted by a New York newspaper in an effort to signal out from all the New York beauties she who is the most beautiful. This loveliest of all the lovely girls has been quietly earning her own livelihood in the modest way, living nothing outside her little sphere in industrial New York. Today her fame has gone throughout the nation.

But even Miss Secker, with all her charm, has western rivals. Oakland is crowded with beauties who may make her look to her laurels. Honors may be transferred from the Atlantic to the Pacific, even from New York to Oakland. There is Miss Alice Vere De Vere, one of a trio of sisters, famous for their beauty, although scarce out of the school room. There is Miss Elizabeth Clay, a typical southern belle, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. Harrison Clay. There is, again, Miss Frances Redman, ardent war worker, who has won scores of admirers. Can Miss Secker be heralded their peer?

New York may have its Venus, but can Oakland say "this one or that one?" Still, a women's court of beauty be established, even when a Griffith, Cohan and Fisher are the discriminating judges. For behold the Oakland beauties!

JAPAN IS STYLED PACIFIC MENACE

KISSES, MEMORIES FEATURE IN SUIT

Japanese encroachments in the Pacific, especially in the way of Japanizing the Pacific islands which have recently come under the Mikado's jurisdiction, are reported by travelers who have just returned from overseas. Chief among these are Neil Nielsen, trade commissioner from Australia, who speaks with special reference to New Caledonia, and Charles Alma-Baker, author, hunter and rubber planter. The latter, arriving on the Sonoma on his way back to London, said:

"Peaceful penetration is the policy which Japan has adopted. The menace is nearer Hawaii and California than it is to Australia. The menace of the future is the possibility of an alliance between Berlin and Tokyo. It is up to the English-speaking nations to guard the Pacific."

Nielsen, like Alma-Baker, is also London-bound and also is staying in San Francisco until he resumes his journey. He says:

"That Japan is succeeding in spreading her influence among the natives is being noted by all of the traders who happen to come in contact with the islanders recently. These report that the dusky savages along the beaches, and there are so many Japanese there that they will soon outnumber the original natives."

Kisses and memories are playing star roles in the divorce suit of Harry Bullard, Oakland jeweler, against Mrs. Minnie Bullard.

Co-respondents also enter at opportune—or inopportune—times.

Co-respondents have poor memories. Wives have excellent ones.

Mrs. Bullard testified in Judge Crothers' court in San Francisco, where the case is being heard, that she saw her husband embracing and kissing Miss Lillian Sullivan, 1145 Pine street. She said that she shadowed Bullard to Miss Sullivan's apartment, heard a hasty word, saw the peculiar indecision and watched the pair ride away in Miss Sullivan's automobile.

Miss Sullivan was placed on the stand and when asked if she ever had been automobile with Bullard or ever entertained him in her apartment, she said:

"I cannot remember."

Mrs. Bullard said that when her husband left Miss Sullivan's apartment, she heard that young woman say to him, "Give me any money you want with you." To which the reply was, "Only $1.50."

The wife also said that on an occasion after she had visited several cafes with her husband, she saw

REVELATIONS of a WIFE

ADELE GARRISON

But as the interne stepped back a puzzled expression breaking his professional calm, the wounded man's impatience got the better of him again.

"Well?" he demanded, "what's the verdict?"

The other waited a long minute before replying. Then a smile broke over his face.

"Promise not to give me away?" he said.

The grinniness faded out of the officer's eyes.

"You're a regular fellow, after all," he said. "Sure, I'll be mum as an oyster."

The interne laughed boisterously.

"You see," he explained, "I really haven't any right to tell you when you can leave, but I'm sure the head man will confirm my opinion."

He stopped and regarded the other quizzically for a moment.

"The truth is, old man," he said at last, "that you're a freak, simply a freak. According to all our dope you ought to be unable to leave here for a week at least, but as it is—"

"I go tomorrow," the other returned.

"No, not tomorrow," the interne said with an air of finality, "but the day after—if you're in the same condition you are now—I think you may venture to get out. Of course, you will still have to come back for the dressing of your wounds."

The officer leaned back upon his pillows.

"So be it," he said, after a moment's thought. "Now, if you and Miss Hoyt will kindly let me finish my conversation with Mrs. Graham I'll be infinitely obliged to you."

"I was just going to say when I was interrupted," the wounded officer quoted smiling.

An answering understanding smile quirked the corners of my mouth, for the old autocrat is one of my own favorites.

"I am glad you quote him correctly," I returned.

"A gleam of appreciation came into his eyes. "So you like him, too?"

"Love him," I retorted promptly. "But I don't want to talk about him now. I'm too anxious to hear the story you promised to tell me."

"Cousin fair lady, I'm afraid you are mistaken. I promised you nothing. If you'll let me go—"

"When the nurse and the interne came in so hopefully you had to tell me, 'I'll be a bargain that we tell each other all!'"

There was a note of gaiety in his voice at which I wondered for a moment, for there had always been something grim, almost saturnine about him. Then I realized the truth, that his gaiety was altogether forced, that in his chivalrous consideration for me he wished to atone for the discomfort he had caused me by his questions concerning my marital happiness, and was assuming a lightness of demeanor he was far from in reality in order to put me at my ease.

There was but one thing for me to do, and that was to carry on my share of the conversation in the same vein.

"Of course, I can't dispute the word of an 'officer and a gentleman,'" I retorted, and was surprised to see a quick spasm of pain distort his features at my words. It was gone the next instant and his face and eyes were as calm and inscrutable as ever. I had distinctly seen the paroxysm and I wondered greatly at it. Was it possible that some tragedy lay behind the mystery of his identity?

I knew he hadn't yet revealed his name to the hospital authorities and the officer to whom he had turned over the prisoner, Ernest, had not visited the hospital since the wounded man had been able to talk.

I brought myself back to the topic in-hand with an effort. The officer's history, I admitted myself, was no affair of mine. That he hadn't yet answered my last observation was something for me to cover quickly if I could manage to do so unobtrusively.

"WELL, HERE GOES."

"But you surely aren't going to make me wait for your story until I tell mine," I asked, a note of pretended pleading in my voice.

His eyes softened, lightened at my words.

"I suppose that would be refined cruelty," he said smiling. "Well, here goes, but I warn you it isn't a particularly pretty story."

"I sat up, every nerve thrilling. At first I was to hear the rest of the drama staged at the inn."

"What was the last thing you knew?" he asked, and I realized with a little feeling of resentment that that machine, he did not intend to waste any words on things I already knew. As for me, I would have been glad to hear the whole story revolved.

"DID HE THROW IT?"

"But you surely aren't going to make me wait for your story until I tell mine," I asked, a note of pretended pleading in my voice.

The ex-Kaiser has plenty of money but he doesn't live where he doesn't feel the feelings he wants to feel. The best things are to him a minus quantity. He is a pauper and a very perfect pauper at that. Even the sun mocks him, for it brings in only the kind of day in which to face. He did an awful lot of wrong thinking and put a long value on assets. He would probably right now trade all his money for one paid off in assets in which he would dare to walk the Street of Decent Men.

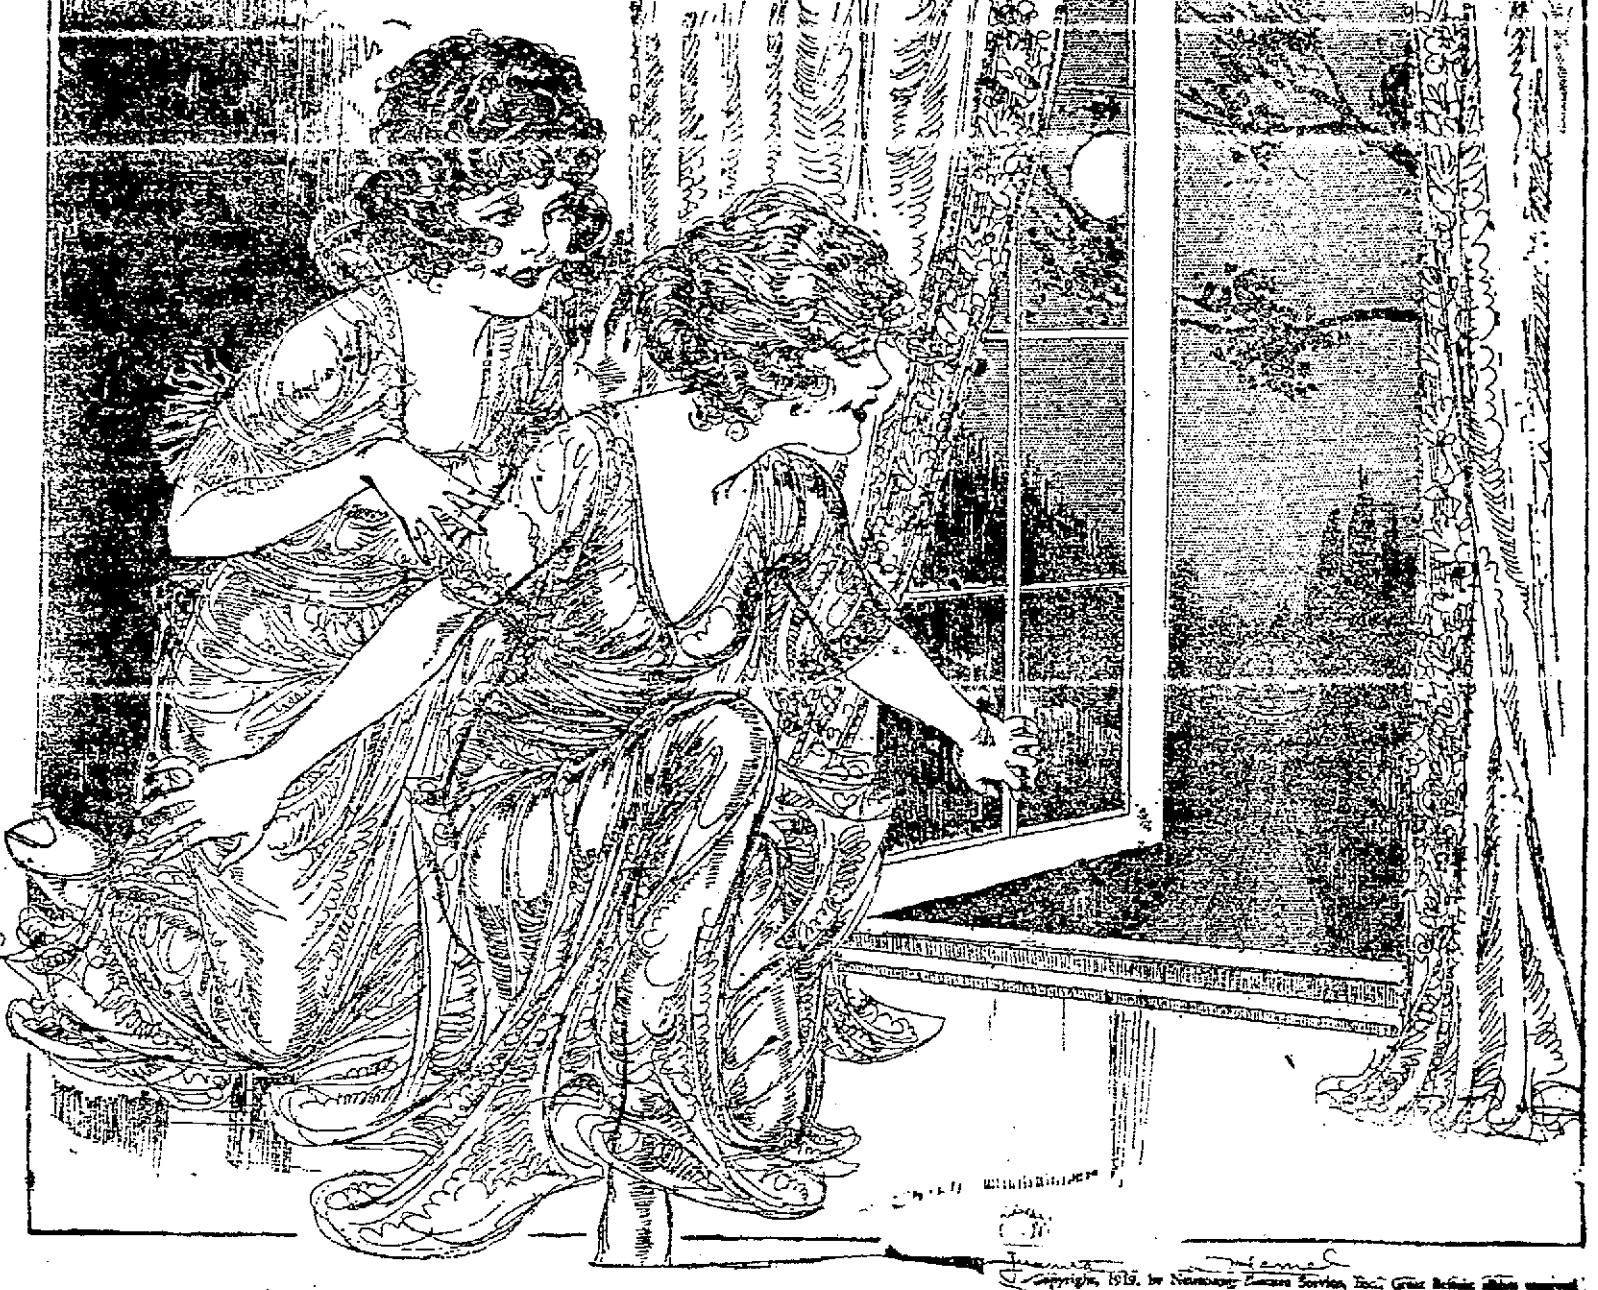

Personally, I don't know how to rightly get hold of more money except by doing better work. And, frankly, I don't want to know any other way because I believe that's the only right way to get it. The ex-Kaiser's easy money situation doesn't appeal to me at all.

"FACES MADE OVER."

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 23.—Facial reconstruction has been so successful that there is not one American soldier who was wounded during the great war with a repulsive face. This was the last of a report made to the convention of the Association of Military Surgeons of the United States now in session here.

HALLOWE'EN IS COMING

By Juanita Hamel

THERE'S a sort of magic in the word Hallowe'en. Doesn't it bring a very sound stir your imagination and carry you back to pinacle days when on that particular eve you were permitted to stay up "terribly late" and to sit with the family before the crackling logs in the big fireplace? How your blood "ran cold" and shivers raced up and down your spine as you listened to the grown-ups telling of the weird happenings and the queer "goings on" of the spirits on Hallowe'en! At every rustle of the leaves of the tree against the window-pane just without, you expected a spirit to float before your very eyes. But the most that ever happened that you can remember of was to behold a pumpkin head—with its gleaming eyes and teeth—grinning harmlessly at you.

Just Folks

by Edgar A. Guest

WHEN THE OTHER FELLOW'S BUSY.

When the other fellow's busy, wave your hand and pass along.

Do not ask him then to listen to your little tale of woe.

Show a glad good morning to him, but don't stop to air your views.

When the other fellow's busy with the work he has to do,

Don't imagine that he's eager to hear idle talk from you.

He won't thank you for your visit, but he'll list you with the fools.

And he'll wish he'd never met you if you make him drop his tools.

When the other fellow's busy never take the empty chair.

Just forget your pleasant story or your little tale of care;

For the chances are he's thinking of the work he has to do.

And before the day is over he would like to see it through.

If you want to keep the friendship of the men you meet and know,

If you'd have them glad to see you and he sorry when you go,

There's a certain way to do it, and I'm telling it in rhyme:

When the other fellow's busy do not stop and waste his time.

SEVEN HURT
AS AUTO HITS
STREET CAR

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29.—Seven persons were injured two seriously, when a sedan automobile crowded with passengers, crashed into a Sutter street car at Sutter street and Grant avenue early this morning. The force of the impact was so terrific that the shattered body of the automobile with its terrified occupants, dashed helplessly inside, and went hurtling through a large plate glass window of the White House many feet from where the collision occurred.

Those injured were:

WILLIAM UDELL, owner and driver of the automobile, 364 O'Farrell street, cut about the face and hands.

WILLIAM FABER, 917 Kearny street, laceration of scalp and face, bruises about the face.

ALBERT SILVESTRO, 2009 Polk street, bruises and lacerations about the face and body.

RAY RYAN, 1080 Clay street, lacerations of the scalp and face.

MISS MARIE GUINNESSON, 658 Montgomery street, lacerations about the face and chest, bruises and possible internal injuries.

MISS MARY WAGNER, 658 Montgomery street, cuts and bruises, broken clavicle, and lacerations about the face and body.

A. H. EMMETT, motorman of the Sutter street car, slight cuts about the hands and face.

DRIVER'S EXPLANATION.

According to Udeil he was driving his automobile south on Grant avenue and was traveling at a fast rate of speed and was near the Sutter street when the wheel broke. As the automobile shot across the intersection of Sutter street, it crashed into the Sutter, head-on into an eastbound Sutter street car. The sound of the impact could be heard for blocks.

Fragments of the automobile were thrown in all directions. Two persons whose names could not be ascertained, were thrown out bodily. The rest of the passengers were retained in the automobile, were sent to the hospital with the exception of Miss Wagner, who was sent to their homes. Miss Wagner is being held for observation.

No arrests were made.

FORMER ACTRESS KILLED.

Mrs. Bertha Elizabeth Edington, wife of John J. Edington, an insurance man, is dead today as the result of the overturning of the automobile in which she was riding from a North Beach restaurant to a home.

The accident happened just south of the Stockton street tunnel, the machine skidding on the wet street. Three other persons in the machine were uninjured.

Mrs. Edington, formerly a moving picture actress, had been the guest of William S. Van Cott most of the day, and according to the story, he told the police they had visited a house of call. He said he met her for the first time yesterday morning. Mrs. Alice Namberry and Julius Weber, also in the accident, joined Mrs. Edington and Van Cott at the North Beach restaurant.

After the accident Weber, who while talking with Mrs. Edington learned her address, notified her husband. Van Cott is accused of manslaughter.
